DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-4, 6-8, and 13-19 are anticipated under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hashimoto et al (US 6,669,809).

Regarding claims 1 and 13: Hashimoto teaches a holding and rotating section (a spin type coating apparatus), a remover supplying section (chemical supply 5), and a gas supplying section (blow gas 1)

Regarding claim 2: Hashimoto teaches a chemical rinse nozzle 12 which anticipates the remover supplying tube and slit type blow nozzle 14 anticipates a gas supplying tube which supplies a gas. Col. 4 line 47 teaches that nitrogen (an inert gas) is a preferable gas.

Regarding claim 3: The remover supplying tube 12 is set in the gas supplying tube 14.

Regarding claim 4: Exhausting section 7 is set to the side of the substrate by the holding and rotating section to exhaust a gas nearby the substrate.

Regarding claims 6, 7, 15, and 16: The apparatus of Hashimoto is inherently capable of processing the type of apparatus discussed. These product by process claims are not given patentable weight.

Art Unit: 1763

Regarding claim 8: Both nozzles are slit-type.

Regarding claim 14: Inherently there is a time elapse to between the supply of the remover and the inert gas. Without an elapse of time, the remover would not function, as it would carry away by the gas.

Regarding claims 17-19: Hashimoto teaches that the apparatus is controlled by a computer program see col. 5 lines 16-27.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 9-12 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:
The prior art of record fails to teach an aspirating section located opposite said gas nozzle.

Conclusion

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-4 and 6-19 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Art Unit: 1763

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
